

ALL CHURCHES MAY GET WINE

Regulations Make It Easy to Obtain Liquor For Sacramental Uses.

Washington, D. C., July 18.—Regulations issued by the bureau of internal revenue afford every religious organization in the United States opportunity to obtain wine for sacramental purposes.

"We have endeavored to cut out 'all red tape,' and have made the regulations easy for bona fide organizations to follow."

Where sacramental wines are produced and distributed under clerical supervision, as in certain monasteries of the Roman Catholic church, the usual internal revenue tax must be paid and accurate records kept of all shipments.

Prayer Affidavit Be Given.

In case of purchases of wine from dealers not under church supervision, the bureau expressed a preference that an affidavit of the use to which the wine was to be put accompany the order, for the protection of both the dealer and the purchaser. Churches not having hierarchical organizations will obtain wine on the application of the minister or authorized officer of the congregation.

Jewish congregations, each of which is a separate entity, under no superior control, will obtain wine for their services on application of the rabbi.

The historic wine brewed from grapes and honey, will continue to be used in the Passover feast. The bureau has ruled, contrary to erroneous reports, that such wine is not prohibited, and that the drink may be made in accordance with ancient custom in the home of Jewish families when intended for use in the religious festival.

Packers' Bill To Be Given A Full Hearing

Chamber Of Commerce Cautions Citizens; Opposes Davis Measure.

Directors of the El Paso chamber of commerce, at a meeting Thursday afternoon, passed a resolution requesting the people of El Paso not to go on record as opposing the senate measure by Kendrick, of Wyoming, known as the "Kendrick measure," until the matter has been thoroughly investigated by the board. Kendrick's measure, which is a special date for discussion of the measures and representatives of the chamber are to be asked to present to state their opposition to the regulatory measure. The general public will also be welcome at the meeting.

Packers Working Hard.

It was stated at the meeting that agents of the packers have been busy in El Paso for several days past securing signatures of business firms and individuals to a petition or to telegrams opposing the proposed regulatory measure, but they were willing to hear both sides and stated that they hoped El Pasoans would not allow themselves to be asked to endorse or condemn the measure until it had been thoroughly discussed.

The Kendrick measure proposes a federal license for all killers of livestock and all car lines for the transportation of business firms and individuals to a petition or to telegrams opposing the proposed regulatory measure, but they were willing to hear both sides and stated that they hoped El Pasoans would not allow themselves to be asked to endorse or condemn the measure until it had been thoroughly discussed.

Swat the Davis Bill.

The directors went on record against the so-called Davis "antiprotection" bill in the state legislature and declared it, in resolutions, as being "a dangerous instrument in restraint of trade." Director M. A. Warner voted against the resolution.

Other directors present and voting for it were W. S. Cromble, Hal F. Christie, E. M. Lawrence, G. A. Martin, A. Schwartz and O. J. Rindorf. President C. N. Bassett presided.

The Davis measure would make matches and all goods sold at the price they cost him and would not permit him to include in that cost the price of freight, express or drayage.

HARRIS Suing W. P. INGALLS

Litigation Is to Determine Who Really Is Arizona Adjutant General.

Phoenix, Ariz., July 18.—Suits were filed Thursday in the Superior court by Charles W. Harris against Walter P. Ingalls, the former acting claim to the position of adjutant general; the latter is governor Campbell's appointee to the post.

According to assistant attorney general Whitney, repeated requests have been made by both Harris and Ingalls for the institution of proceedings to test the law and have it determined finally who is the duly qualified adjutant general of the state.

AN OFFICIAL ELEPHANT HUNT.

WHEN a king of Siam finds that the stock of tame elephants in the government stables is getting low he sends out an edict that a royal elephant hunt will take place. This order is received joyfully throughout Siam, for the elephant hunt is to this eastern country what a bullfight is to Spain or what the Olympic games were to ancient Greece. A royal elephant hunt is staged only about once a year, and is enough of a spectacle to induce people from all over Siam to come to Ayuthia where the animals are to be brought when captured.

The Siamese jungle shelters great herds of wild elephants both with and without tusks and occasionally a freak grayish specimen known as a white elephant. A white elephant when captured is kept in an atmosphere of great pomp in the royal stables and does not work. Other kinds become the burden bearers of Siam from the king's own particular elephant to the animals that lift logs at the lumber camps.

Days, sometimes weeks, are required to locate and surround the herd to be captured. Then they are carefully driven in the direction of Ayuthia. So slowly do the great beasts travel that four or five miles is sometimes the daily rate of advance. When Ayuthia is reached the herd is driven into a kraal, which is a large, walled-in court, and here it is kept until the desirable best animals are selected. The rest are then allowed to wander back to their jungle home.

The taming of the animals retained taken several days and is the climax to the spectacle. Crowds gather about the kraal to watch the elephants trumpet their anger at being caught and to watch their clumsy struggle against mastery by the native trainers.

American Woman Tells Of Murder Of Her Husband

Widow Seeks Justice For Outrage By Mexicans In Tampico.

Washington, D. C., July 18.—A tale of Mexican brutality and murder was brought to Washington yesterday by 65 year old Mrs. John W. Correll, whose husband was killed when Mexican marauders raided their home near Tampico. Mrs. Correll, who with her 16 year old son survived the outrage, will endeavor to lay her story before president Wilson.

Oklahoma representatives in congress are interested in the Correll case. The incident has already been laid before Henry D. Fletcher, ambassador to Mexico, who is now at the state department. The aged victim of Mexican ruthlessness, who tells a harrowing story of the attack on her home, is seeking redress for the damage to her property.

Charles F. Carter, of the National Association for the Protection of Rights in Mexico, who is here with Mrs. Correll, declares that the citizens of Oklahoma are indignant and disgusted with the situation in Mexico.

HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, JULY 19, 1919.

BOTH Neptune and Mercury rule strongly for good today, according to astrology. Mars is strongly adverse.

There is the best sort of promise for the extension of commerce. New markets are to be supplied, if the stars are read aright.

There is a sign that presages the most remarkable awakening to the consciousness of conditions after death.

Neptune is in a place that gives power to the way of the stars, which is supposed to impart vision and the power to present what the mind sees. If the planets are interpreted correctly in their influence on human life, there will be a protracted period of unrest and struggle.

Legislators and persons in conspicuous positions should be most careful to avoid scandals, for they will be targets for abuse more persistent than at any previous time, the stars say.

Frauds affecting the revenue of states and the federal government are foretold.

Mars, on the meridian at Lisbon, is read as of sinister portent to Portugal.

The moon in the tenth house when the stars are read, the stars are Washington diplomatic complications and the accusation of serious blunders.

Persons whose birthdate it is should be exceedingly wise in managing their affairs during the coming year. They have an assured future, but they must be careful to avoid scandals, for they will be targets for abuse more persistent than at any previous time, the stars say.

Frauds affecting the revenue of states and the federal government are foretold.

Mars, on the meridian at Lisbon, is read as of sinister portent to Portugal.
